Curtain wall series

Curtain wall is a new type of wall in contemporary times.

The biggest characteristic that it endow the building is to unite the factors such as architectural aesthetics, architectural function, architectural energy conservation and architectural structure organically. The building presents different colors from different angles and gives people dynamic beauty with the change of sunshine, moonlight and light. Curtain wall also has light and beautiful, not easy to pollute, save energy and other advantages. The inside side of the outer glass of the curtain wall is coated with colored metal coating. From the outside, the whole outer wall is like a mirror to reflect the scenery of the sky and surrounding environment. When the light changes, the image is colorful and infinite. Below the reflection of the light, indoor do not accept light illuminate, visual mulberry and. It absorbs infrared light, reduces the amount of solar radiation that enters the room, lowers the temperature of the room, and reflects light like a mirror and passes it like glass.
